

CHÂTEAU CANTEMERLE

2002

This rather light vintage, whose early harvest began on September 16th, isn't intended for long aging. Nevertheless, after all these years the wine shows an aromatic expression in contrast with its age, provided it has been properly stored. The assemblage of the four Médoc grape varieties gives a complexity in which the pleasing softness of Merlot is dominant. This is a very charming wine, generous and easy to enjoy, for drinking now with sweetbreads or scallops in cream.
